

WOMEN 2 WOMEN

Dress for Success Seattle needs you to lend your time, patience and professional experience to women who are working towards self-sufficiency!

Consider this:

You've landed a job that you and your family desperately need – one you hope will get you back on track. You are excited, nervous, and want to hit the ground running; setting yourself up for success.

Or, perhaps you've been in your job for a while, and want to grow in your career without rocking the boat. You aren't sure what risks you should take in order to advance.

Dress for Success helps economically disadvantaged women acquire jobs, retain their new positions and succeed in the mainstream workplace. This can only be accomplished with the deep involvement of community volunteers like you.

We are looking for mentors who can share career insights, provide guidance, support and wisdom to help women in need establish and reach their professional goals. You can wear many hats, including teacher, sponsor, coach, confidante, and role model.

Your community needs you!
