Playground Safety

Lack of supervision: Children under age 4 shouldn't play on climbing equipment or horizontal ladders remember, there is no substitute for parental supervision, especially for young children. Use good judgment when playing and be thankful for the people who maintain our playgrounds.

Use Your Head, Protect Your Noggin

Cyclists who wear a helmet reduce their risk of head injury by an estimated 60% and brain injury by 58%. That statistic makes sense when you consider the first body part to fly forward in a collision is usually the head, and with nothing but skin and bone to protect the brain, the results can be fatal.

Home Alone: Guidelines For Kids And Parents

School is out and with the summer months comes more free time for many kids – and parent/guardian concerns about leaving children unsupervised at home. Every child is different and parents are ultimately responsible for making decisions about their child's safety. If you feel your child is ready to be left at home unsupervised, here are guidelines

How To Know If Your Child Is Ready

There must be no emotional, medical or behavioral problems that affect their judgement or decision-making skills.

The child must be comfortable being alone.

You and your child should have a safety plan worked out, which includes: How to get in touch with you or other responsible adults at all times.

What to do in case of emergency.

Guidelines for acceptable behavior.

Knowledge of emergency telephone numbers.

Your child must demonstrate the ability to follow the plan & to make decisions that reflect concern for personal safety
